

2010

ASSOCIATION OF INTERIOR NATIVE EDUCATORS

“... established to provide a voice for Native educators”

AINE LEARNING STYLES WORKSHOP

JULY 27-30

Integrating a Traditional Athabascan Story in Today’s Classroom Using Learning Styles Instruction

COURSE DESCRIPTION

Participants will explore a traditional Athabascan story - The Old Man Who Came Down from the Second Layer of the World by Belle Deacon - following the deeper cultural contexts of the story, pedagogy for teaching, and reviewing the importance of teaching indigenous lessons in today’s classroom within the context of NCLB in the schools. Participants will also review the Dunn & Dunn methodology of implementing learning styles in an academically rigorous and supportive learning environment.

- Course Prerequisite: AINE Learning Styles Institute or permission of instructors
Guest Presenters: Beth Leonard, Ph.D., UAF School of Education
Instructor: Sharon Barker Attla M.Ed.
Campsite: This workshop will be held as a four day/three night camp at Howard Luke’s Gaaleeyaa Camp on the Tanana River near Fairbanks, AK

Target Audience: Certified 4-12th grade and post-secondary educators

Maximum number of participants: 15

Travel/lodging scholarship: Limited travel and lodging assistance is available for AINE members and Interior educators to travel to Fairbanks

Material fee: $25

Optional University credit - 1 UAF credit for $90 (pending)

Please contact AINE staff for registration information

To reserve your space for the 2010 Learning Styles Camp, please complete the following and fax or email the information to AINE by July 20, 2010:

Name: _____
School District: _____
Address: _____
City: _____ St: _____ Zip: _____
E-mail: _____
Phone: _____

Yes, I need travel/lodging scholarship (check if applicable)